I just "mixed down" an edited drum track and when I brought it into Nuendo with the music track I edited it too it was short by roughly 173 ms

So I brought the L&R (Drum edit mix) PAF's back into the project and although they lined up musically when I zoomed into the front of the tracks sure enough there was a space between the start of the track and "zero" on the time line.

Rendering these tracks gave them both a zero start point and all was well with the world but man what a friggin surprise is this normal?

I've never noticed a problem before.

DOnDuh! Wrong NG
