
Subject: Way OT: What Canada thinks of Bush
Posted by [mike audet\[3\]](#) on Sat, 22 Mar 2008 12:11:14 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi All, I don't usually post this stuff, but what the heck.

I think this captures most of Canada's feelings about Bush perfectly.

<http://www.thestar.com/Canada/Columnist/article/349621>

What bothers me about it is that I think it is dead wrong. I think Bush has succeeded beautifully.

He hates the welfare state, so he intentionally bankrupted it with tax cuts and a war, and he intentionally made it look like government can't come through for people by abandoning New Orleans.

He wants to make more money for his friends in the oil business, so he intentionally stirred the middle eastern pot to drive up oil prices.

He knows that government can keep control by keeping the populous scared, so he's intentionally failing in Afghanistan. After all, who would the enemy be if Bin Laden and his boys were really defeated?

What could be a better cover for complete evil than fake stupidity and incompetence?

What do you guys think?

Mike
