Fuck DJ. I may die without it. Those reviews were positively panegyric.

Before you fork over the bucks for that one (which i have not yet tried-out, so I have no opinion on it), make sure you demo Voxengo's Elephant... VERY crush-capable, with the ability to keep it clean or go well into clip-realm if you want it. Built-in selectable internal oversampling, several different limiter modes & speeds, dither, K-system metering response, frequency-selectable DC filter, yada, yada, yada.

And it's only 69 bucks, so the price is right, too!

I've tried the compressors.

They are indeed very nice, but not necessarily a quantum leap over the other top of the heap plugs.

To my ears not as nice as the UAD stuff. But different of course.....

The demos are fully functionaing - so try them out!!

You will need an iLok.
