Hi!
Its me again..
some time ago I asked how to cut at the now-line, but I guess that Ctrl+k shortcut does not work on Macs..

Hi Micha - the Mac equivalent should be COMMAND-K.

I've started a grid for key commands on the Wiki <http://www.kerrygalloway.com/WikiPARIS/wikka.php?wakka=KeyboardCommands> but it could use input.

Note there's a competition for best Wiki Contribution, with Mike Audet software up for grabs, and the race is still wide open

That really works!
And I found out that Ctrl+k is zoom in and Ctrl+l out

Just checking to see if the WIKI is active. Sorry for butting in!

Heya Tom - I haven't had a chance to add much to the Wiki lately, since my PARIS-related free time has been spent pursuing other things, like getting the "PARIS Lives!" word out, and getting non-PARIS developers onside with PARIS-related development. But it's definitely active, and I definitely have a lot more planned for it.
