

---

Subject: The Big Picture

Posted by [dc\[3\]](#) on Sun, 23 Mar 2008 00:54:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Please, nobody leave.

I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we should enforce that.

But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something worthwhile from.

Can we please calm down a bit?

I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.

DC

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture

Posted by Stevehwan on Sun, 23 Mar 2008 01:23:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hey DC, Good word... I am certainly gonna cool er' down a scoash and get back to audio jabber.

"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:

>

>Please, nobody leave.

>

>I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we >should enforce that.

>

>But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of >each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at >each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly

>like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic >worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something >worthwhile from.

>
>Can we please calm down a bit?
>
>I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>
>
>DC

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by Nappy on Sun, 23 Mar 2008 03:24:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I agree,
This NG has been apart of my life for the last 9 and a half years.
I remember when my son was born 9 years ago,I shared that with this group. I remember when Detric's children were born and Chucks. When Rich discovered he had Distonia(spelling?) I remember marriages and divorces fingers getting chopped off..the old fri nite chats and so much more. I shared my medical problems and recieved great support here. To all I owe a great thanks.
I can't leave without a fight. So if you all can post about Music that moves you,maybe we can get back on the right track. Please check my post on that subject,and let us know what makes you tick. remember,You can't love anything you don't understand.,

respect
Nappy
PS I was in you neck of the woods today and thought of looking you DC.
Ever heard of Zosa Ranch-Bed and breakfast. south of Escondio off 395?

"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:

>
>Please, nobody leave.
>
>I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we

>should enforce that.
>
>But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly

>like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
>worthwhile from.

>
>Can we please calm down a bit?
>
>I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>
>
>DC

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by [dc\[3\]](#) on Sun, 23 Mar 2008 04:28:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

"Nappy" <juggler9@rock.com> wrote:

>Nappy
>PS I was in you neck of the woods today and thought of looking you DC.
>Ever heard of Zosa Ranch-Bed and breakfast. south of Escondido off 395?

No, but I love B&B's. What's it like?

We spent the weekend down at the bayside Holiday Inn, you know the one right across from the Star of India? Great place and the view from the city side from the room balconies is wonderful. I sit out there with my guitar and watch the trains come in and the guys building the high rises.

take care, and I am glad you are still here.

DC

>
>"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:
>>
>>Please, nobody leave.
>>
>>I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we
>
>>should enforce that.
>>
>>But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>>each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>>each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly
>
>>like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>>worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something

>>worthwhile from.
>>
>>Can we please calm down a bit?
>>
>>I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>>troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >>not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>>
>>
>>DC
>

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by Nappy on Sun, 23 Mar 2008 05:08:40 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I was there for a wedding,its off the beaten path. I just saw the common area,but it was nice. San diego is pretty.

respect
nappy

"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:

>
>"Nappy" <juggler9@rock.com> wrote:
>
>
>>Nappy
>>PS I was in you neck of the woods today and thought of looking you DC.
>>Ever heard of Zosa Ranch-Bed and breakfast. south of Escondio off 395?

>
>No, but I love B&B's. What's it like?
>
>We spent the weekend down at the bayside Holiday Inn, you know the one >right across from the Star of India? Great place and the view from the >city side from the room balconies is wonderful. I sit out there with my >guitar and watch the trains come in and the guys building the high rises.
>
>take care, and I am glad you are still here.

>
>DC
>
>>
>>"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:
>>>

>>>Please, nobody leave.
>>>
>>>I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we
>>
>>>should enforce that.
>>>
>>>But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>>>each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>>>each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly
>>
>>>like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>>>worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
>>>worthwhile from.
>>>
>>>Can we please calm down a bit?
>>>
>>>I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>>>troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >>>not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>>>
>>>
>>>DC
>>
>

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by Sarah on Mon, 24 Mar 2008 13:26:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Yeah, what Don said. We may have come for the PARIS, but we stayed for the humor, intellectual stimulation, and friendship. At least that's how I see it. Isn't it amazing that people can make real soul to soul connections though a pure "meeting of the minds?" And the fact that we can disagree intensely at times and remain friends makes us almost like . . . dare I say it? . . . family.

Anyway, I love all y'all cuz y'all 're crazy, and I like that in a human.
:)

S

PS: and PARIS still rocks! (when does the XP version come out?)

"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote in message news:47e59c48$1@linux...
>
> Please, nobody leave.

>
> I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we
> should enforce that.
>
> But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
> each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
> each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly
> like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
> worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
> worthwhile from.
>
> Can we please calm down a bit?
>
> I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
> troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will > not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>
>
> DC

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by TCB on Mon, 24 Mar 2008 15:50:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Pot . . . . . kettle . . . . . black . . . . .

TCB

"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:

>
>Please, nobody leave.
>
>I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we

>should enforce that.
>
>But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly

>like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
>worthwhile from.
>
>Can we please calm down a bit?
>
>I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous

>troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>
>
>DC

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by [dc\[3\]](#) on Mon, 24 Mar 2008 17:13:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Actually, you and I are a great example of this. Could not agree less on a bunch of important subjects, including politics (although we disagree less here than may appear at first glance) and religion, yet we genuinely like each other.

That has to mean there is room for hope that we all can get along here.

We just need to never ever feed the trolls.

DC

"Sarah" <sarahjane@sarahtonin.com> wrote:

>Yeah, what Don said. We may have come for the PARIS, but we stayed for the >humor, intellectual stimulation, and friendship. At least that's how I see >it. Isn't it amazing that people can make real soul to soul connections

>though a pure "meeting of the minds?" And the fact that we can disagree >intensely at times and remain friends makes us almost like . . . dare I say >it? . . . family.

>

>Anyway, I love all y'all cuz y'all 're crazy, and I like that in a human.

>:)

>

>S

>

>PS: and PARIS still rocks! (when does the XP version come out?)

>

>

>"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote in message news:47e59c48\$1@linux...

>>

>> Please, nobody leave.

>>
>> I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we
>> should enforce that.
>>
>> But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>> each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>> each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly
>> like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>> worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
>> worthwhile from.
>>
>> Can we please calm down a bit?
>>
>> I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>> troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >> not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>>
>>
>> DC
>
>

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by Bill L on Mon, 24 Mar 2008 19:39:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I'm not crying! I just got something in my eye...

Sarah wrote:

> Yeah, what Don said. We may have come for the PARIS, but we stayed for the > humor, intellectual stimulation, and friendship. At least that's how I see > it. Isn't it amazing that people can make real soul to soul connections
> though a pure "meeting of the minds?" And the fact that we can disagree > intensely at times and remain friends makes us almost like . . . dare I say
> it? . . . family.
>
> Anyway, I love all y'all cuz y'all 're crazy, and I like that in a human.
> :)
>
> S
>
> PS: and PARIS still rocks! (when does the XP version come out?)
>
>
> "DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote in message news:47e59c48\$1@linux...
>> Please, nobody leave.
>>

>> I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we
>> should enforce that.
>>
>> But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>> each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>> each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly
>> like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>> worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
>> worthwhile from.
>>
>> Can we please calm down a bit?
>>
>> I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>> troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >> not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>>
>>
>> DC
>
>

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by Ed on Mon, 24 Mar 2008 20:46:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

This is by far the most important reason why I suggested to upgrade to something like vbulletin. of course I got slammed... saying that too many were too use to this format. vbulletin can require a verification, log in and has more controls. Forums can be moderated and posts can be easily edited by the author. too many reason not to update! Any tom, dick or harry can post on here now with no edits or control... come out of the 70's and into at least the 90's with vbulletin.

Although most of you don't remember me (cause I don't post that much), I have been on these groups since 2000 or 2001... shortly after I got my Paris... but there were a few times I left, planning not to come back because of post content.

I am moving on to a firewire system now and will also proly slip away in the cyber dust. But I never got that close or posted that much, so I won't be missed.

Just my 2 cents...

"TCB" <nobody@ishere.com> wrote:
>
>Pot . . . . . kettle . . . . . black . . . . .

>
>TCB
>
>"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:
>>
>>Please, nobody leave.
>>
>>I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we
>
>>should enforce that.
>>
>>But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>>each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>>each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly
>
>>like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>>worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
>>worthwhile from.
>>
>>Can we please calm down a bit?
>>
>>I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>>troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >>not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>>
>>
>>DC
>

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by [dc\[3\]](#) on Mon, 24 Mar 2008 22:16:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Great idea. More work for Kim though.

DC

"Ed" <askme@email.com> wrote:
>
>This is by far the most important reason why I suggested to upgrade to something >like vbulletin. of course I got slammed... saying that too many were too >use to this format. vbulletin can require a verification, log in and has >more controls. Forums can be moderated and posts can be easily edited by >the author. too many reason not to update! Any tom, dick or harry can >post >on here now with no edits or control... come out of the 70's and into at >least the 90's with vbulletin.

>
>Although most of you don't remember me (cause I don't post that much), I >have been on these groups since 2000 or 2001... shortly after I got my Paris... > but there were a few times I left, planning not to come back because of >post content.
>
> I am moving on to a firewire system now and will also prolly slip away >in the cyber dust. But I never got that close or posted that much, so I >won't be missed.
>
> Just my 2 cents...
>
>"TCB" <nobody@ishere.com> wrote:
>>
>>Pot . . . . . kettle . . . . . black . . . . .
>>
>>TCB
>>
>>"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:
>>>
>>>Please, nobody leave.
>>>
>>>I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we
>>
>>>should enforce that.
>>>
>>>But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>>>each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>>>each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly
>>
>>>like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>>>worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
>>>worthwhile from.
>>>
>>>Can we please calm down a bit?
>>>
>>>I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>>>troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >>>not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>>>
>>>
>>>DC
>>
>

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture

Posted by [Deej \[5\]](#) on Mon, 24 Mar 2008 23:05:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Like I always say sometimes, I just wish that I was half the man that my dogs think I am.

;o)

"Bill L" <bill@billlorentzen.com> wrote in message news:47e80662@linux...

> I'm not crying! I just got something in my eye...

>

> Sarah wrote:

>> Yeah, what Don said. We may have come for the PARIS, but we stayed for >> the humor, intellectual stimulation, and friendship. At least that's how

>> I see it. Isn't it amazing that people can make real soul to soul >> connections though a pure "meeting of the minds?" And the fact that we >> can disagree intensely at times and remain friends makes us almost like .

>> . . . dare I say it? . . . family.

>>

>> Anyway, I love all y'all cuz y'all 're crazy, and I like that in a human.

>> :)

>>

>> S

>>

>> PS: and PARIS still rocks! (when does the XP version come out?)

>>

>>

>> "DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote in message news:47e59c48\$1@linux...

>>> Please, nobody leave.

>>>

>>> I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we

>>> should enforce that.

>>>

>>> But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of

>>> each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at

>>> each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly

>>> like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic >>> worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned

>>> something

>>> worthwhile from.

>>>

>>> Can we please calm down a bit?

>>>

>>> I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous >>> troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they >>> will

>>> not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.

>>>

>>>
>>> DC
>>

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by Sarah on Tue, 25 Mar 2008 08:07:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Yeah, what Don said. :)

s

"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote in message news:47e7d329$1@linux...

>

> Actually, you and I are a great example of this. Could not agree less > on a bunch of important subjects, including politics (although we > disagree less here than may appear at first glance) and religion, yet > we genuinely like each other.

>

> That has to mean there is room for hope that we all can get along here.

>

> We just need to never ever feed the trolls.

>

> DC

>

>

> "Sarah" <sarahjane@sarahtonin.com> wrote:

>>Yeah, what Don said. We may have come for the PARIS, but we stayed for
> the >>humor, intellectual stimulation, and friendship. At least that's how I > see

>>it. Isn't it amazing that people can make real soul to soul connections

>

>>though a pure "meeting of the minds?" And the fact that we can disagree

>

>>intensely at times and remain friends makes us almost like . . . dare I > say

>>it? . . . family.

>>

>>Anyway, I love all y'all cuz y'all 're crazy, and I like that in a human.

>

>>:)

>>

>>S

>>

>>PS: and PARIS still rocks! (when does the XP version come out?)

>>

>>
>>"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote in message news:47e59c48$1@linux...
>>>
>>> Please, nobody leave.
>>>
>>> I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we
>>> should enforce that.
>>>
>>> But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>>> each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>>> each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly
>>> like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic >>> worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned >>> something
>>> worthwhile from.
>>>
>>> Can we please calm down a bit?
>>>
>>> I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous >>> troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they >>> will
>>> not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>>>
>>>
>>> DC
>>
>>
>

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by rick on Tue, 25 Mar 2008 08:35:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

that's my finger in your eye clown boy.

On Mon, 24 Mar 2008 15:39:55 -0400, Bill L <bill@billlorentzen.com>
wrote:

>I'm not crying! I just got something in my eye...

>

>Sarah wrote:

>> Yeah, what Don said. We may have come for the PARIS, but we stayed for the >> humor, intellectual stimulation, and friendship. At least that's how I see >> it. Isn't it amazing that people can make real soul to soul connections
>> though a pure "meeting of the minds?" And the fact that we can disagree >> intensely at times and remain friends makes us almost like . . . dare I say >> it? . . . family.

>>
>> Anyway, I love all y'all cuz y'all 're crazy, and I like that in a human.
>> :)
>>
>> S
>>
>> PS: and PARIS still rocks! (when does the XP version come out?)
>>
>>
>> "DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote in message news:47e59c48$1@linux...
>>> Please, nobody leave.
>>>
>>> I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we
>>> should enforce that.
>>>
>>> But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>>> each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>>> each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly
>>> like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>>> worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
>>> worthwhile from.
>>>
>>> Can we please calm down a bit?
>>>
>>> I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>>> troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >>> not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>>>
>>>
>>> DC
>>
>>

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by Kim on Tue, 25 Mar 2008 10:12:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:
>
>Great idea. More work for Kim though.
>

The main issue has always been NNTP support. A lot of the group's participants prefer NNTP as their access method, and there's very little out there which supports both web and NNTP. Plus we own the license to this already.

Within reason I can moderate, edit, etc as it is. It's probably more painful to do it on here than some new GUI, and normally I don't see a need. It might be time to get a little more solid on the "Politics/Religion goes in General" rule, but, in theory, it's only a single command line to move a thread between groups anyhow.

While I obviously very much prefer people to be open about who they are rather than "trolling", I'm not sure the extent to which we'd really want to make it hard for people to access the forum either. There are plenty of forums which work well with logons though, but I'd at very least want to take a vote amongst the group.

Unfortunately this forum doesn't have a poll feature. ;o)

Cheers,
Kim.

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by Bill L on Tue, 25 Mar 2008 10:55:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

rick wrote:

> that's my finger in your eye clown boy.

>

No wonder it smelled funny.

> On Mon, 24 Mar 2008 15:39:55 -0400, Bill L <bill@billlorentzen.com>

> wrote:

>

>> I'm not crying! I just got something in my eye...

>>

>> Sarah wrote:

>>> Yeah, what Don said. We may have come for the PARIS, but we stayed for the >>> humor, intellectual stimulation, and friendship. At least that's how I see

>>> it. Isn't it amazing that people can make real soul to soul connections

>>> though a pure "meeting of the minds?" And the fact that we can disagree

>>> intensely at times and remain friends makes us almost like . . . dare I say

>>> it? . . . family.

>>>

>>> Anyway, I love all y'all cuz y'all 're crazy, and I like that in a human.

>>> :)

>>>

>>> S

>>>

>>> PS: and PARIS still rocks! (when does the XP version come out?)

>>>

>>>

>>> "DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote in message news:47e59c48\$1@linux...

>>>> Please, nobody leave.
>>>>
>>>> I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we
>>>> should enforce that.
>>>>
>>>> But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>>>> each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>>>> each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly
>>>> like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>>>> worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
>>>> worthwhile from.
>>>>
>>>> Can we please calm down a bit?
>>>>
>>>> I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>>>> troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >>>> not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>>>>
>>>>
>>>> DC
>>>
>

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by Bill L on Tue, 25 Mar 2008 11:18:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Kim,

I would feel guilty knowing you put any more of your time into "controlling" the NG. Let's make this a self-moderating group.

In another thread I posted Ron Hubbard's Two Rules for Happy Living which would be helpful for self-moderating. :

- 1) Be able to experience anything.
- 2) Create only those effects others can experience easily.

Let us take responsibility for our selves - we're not children.

Kim wrote:

> "DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:

>> Great idea. More work for Kim though.

>>

>

> The main issue has always been NNTP support. A lot of the group's participants > prefer NNTP as their access method, and there's very little out there which > supports both web and NNTP. Plus we own the license to this already.

>
> Within reason I can moderate, edit, etc as it is. It's probably more painful > to do it on here than some new GUI, and normally I don't see a need. It might > be time to get a little more solid on the "Politics/Religion goes in General"
> rule, but, in theory, it's only a single command line to move a thread between > groups anyhow.
>
> While I obviously very much prefer people to be open about who they are rather > than "trolling", I'm not sure the extent to which we'd really want to make > it hard for people to access the forum either. There are plenty of forums > which work well with logons though, but I'd at very least want to take a > vote amongst the group.
>
> Unfortunately this forum doesn't have a poll feature. ;o)
>
> Cheers,
> Kim.

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by LaMontt on Tue, 25 Mar 2008 14:56:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Don.. I agree. Thanks
"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:
>
>Please, nobody leave.
>
>I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we

>should enforce that.
>
>But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly

>like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
>worthwhile from.
>
>Can we please calm down a bit?
>
>I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>

>
>DC

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by rick on Tue, 25 Mar 2008 14:57:18 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

you can smell with your eyes...waaaaay kewell. how's your nose hearing these days?

On Tue, 25 Mar 2008 06:55:47 -0400, Bill L <bill@billlorentzen.com> wrote:

>
>rick wrote:
>> that's my finger in your eye clown boy.
>>
>No wonder it smelled funny.
>
>> On Mon, 24 Mar 2008 15:39:55 -0400, Bill L <bill@billlorentzen.com>
>> wrote:
>>
>>> I'm not crying! I just got something in my eye...
>>>
>>> Sarah wrote:
>>>> Yeah, what Don said. We may have come for the PARIS, but we stayed for the >>>> humor, intellectual stimulation, and friendship. At least that's how I see >>>> it. Isn't it amazing that people can make real soul to soul connections
>>>> though a pure "meeting of the minds?" And the fact that we can disagree >>>> intensely at times and remain friends makes us almost like . . . dare I say
>>>> it? . . . family.
>>>>
>>>> Anyway, I love all y'all cuz y'all 're crazy, and I like that in a human.
>>>> :)
>>>>
>>>> S
>>>>
>>>> PS: and PARIS still rocks! (when does the XP version come out?)
>>>>
>>>>
>>>> "DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote in message news:47e59c48\$1@linux...
>>>>> Please, nobody leave.
>>>>>
>>>>> I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we
>>>>> should enforce that.
>>>>>
>>>>> But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of

>>>> each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>>>> each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly
>>>> like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>>>> worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
>>>> worthwhile from.

>>>>

>>>> Can we please calm down a bit?

>>>>

>>>> I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>>>> troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >>>> not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.

>>>>

>>>>

>>>> DC

>>>>

>>

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture

Posted by rick on Tue, 25 Mar 2008 14:58:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

my grandfather was part polish...will that help?

On 25 Mar 2008 20:12:48 +1000, "Kim" <hidensounds@hotmail.com> wrote:

>

>"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:

>>

>>Great idea. More work for Kim though.

>>

>

>The main issue has always been NNTP support. A lot of the group's participants >prefer NNTP as their access method, and there's very little out there which >supports both web and NNTP. Plus we own the license to this already.

>

>Within reason I can moderate, edit, etc as it is. It's probably more painful >to do it on here than some new GUI, and normally I don't see a need. It might >be time to get a little more solid on the "Politics/Religion goes in General"
>rule, but, in theory, it's only a single command line to move a thread between >groups anyhow.

>

>While I obviously very much prefer people to be open about who they are rather >than "trolling", I'm not sure the extent to which we'd really want to make >it hard for people to access the forum either. There are plenty of forums
>which work well with logons though, but I'd at very least want to take a >vote amongst the group.

>

>Unfortunately this forum doesn't have a poll feature. ;o)
>
>Cheers,
>Kim.

---

---

Subject: Re: The Big Picture
Posted by [dc\[3\]](#) on Tue, 25 Mar 2008 16:13:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

You're welcome.

DC

"LaMont" <jjdpro@gmail.com> wrote:

>
>Don.. I agree. Thanks
>"DC" <dc@spammersinhell.com> wrote:
>>
>>Please, nobody leave.
>>
>>I think the idea of keeping the OT stuff in general is wonderful and we
>
>>should enforce that.
>>
>>But the more important issue is that we have all become a part of
>>each other's lives. Like it or not, and no matter how mad we get at
>>each other, we do care what this bunch of crackpots think and we mostly
>
>>like each other. Despite some real differences in outlook and basic
>>worldview, there is not a single person here I have not learned something
>>worthwhile from.
>>
>>Can we please calm down a bit?
>>
>>I would also like to suggest that any damn post by some anonymous
>>troll be given no weight at all, no matter how incendiary. If they will >>not ID themselves, consider it tagging and let it go.
>>
>>
>>DC
>

---