Hi James,
Seems like they are charging for even the most basic support.
That sucks and being AVID/Digidesign that means other will start doing it because its the "Industry Standard".
We can always hope it will back fire and destroy them but I doubt it will.
People are stupid and will do things even when they no there are better solutions available.

Creatures of habit we are, they're counting on it and they're probably going to get away with it.
