There's a little of that in anybody that's in to audio, just look at gear slutz. Who wouldn't want to own a five hundred thousand dollar recording console??? Gear lust, or is it more than that?

Hey, I wonder what these guys think of MP3s? I'll bet MP3s really drive those guys batty!

I don't care about the 500K console. Not a bit. If I had unlimited funds I would get a turnkey DAW from these guys:

<http://www.sequoiadigital.com/index.shtml>

and a huge load of outboard pres, processors, mics, plugins and a mastering-grade monitoring system.

And probably go back to Paris anyway...

And I'll bet saying "MP3" to those guys would start a fistfight...

heh

Hi DC,

heh those look to be as silly as a purchase the guys stuff in that video

I wonder if the guys in the video actually like music?

My experience with extreme audiophiles is that they are passionate beyond belief about music and hear acutely.

Unfortunately they often do little to learn about the actual physics involved, and so get taken for a ride by a lot of snake oil companies.

problem is some of the best music in the world is and was done on very low tech and low quality mediums. They will probably never listen to just because it's not "HIFI". :)
