

---

Subject: Cubase SX3 - What's your control surface of choice?

Posted by Jon Jiles on Thu, 29 Dec 2005 20:23:56 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

of the unknown stopped me from contacting Paris folk in the area. Sorry.

> I'll try again if there's a next time -

>

> The cat is asleep on my lap.

>

> -steve the jetla

---

---

Subject: Re: Cubase SX3 - What's your control surface of choice?

Posted by Mark McCurdy on Fri, 30 Dec 2005 05:39:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

hing you should get better reliability than without.

> >

> > ...I think. I'm pretty sure at least... I have had a hell of a lot to > > drink tonight... thank you to the taxi driver... ;o) and that Nat

> chick > > who I'm seeing again on NYE seems a bit alright... I'm not sure that she > > likes me, but there's something sexy about an accountant who's qualified > > as a lawyer, and is also very cute and laughs a lot. I do at least now > have

> &g

---

---

Subject: Re: Cubase SX3 - What's your control surface of choice?

Posted by David L on Wed, 04 Jan 2006 18:39:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

; >>>>>

>> >>>>> I

>> >>>>>

>> >>>>>>>

>> >>>>>>>have to say...I don't like it.

>> >>>>>>>The interface is (IMNSHO), horrible, confusing, and convoluted.

>> >>>>>&gt

---