Rhapsody totally rocks. I hate iTunes. I have the Rhapsody subscription that allows listening to any music anytime, plus radio stations that are pretty hip.

I AM curious if one company has higher quality files than another.
Anyone know?

I and most of the studios around here (Motown) use Rhapsody. I have the Rhapsody To Go- service..Meaning I can download to my MP3 player for only the cost of the main service which is 14.00 per month.. This way my MP3 player ( Creative Zen Sleek Photo) have the full Rhapsody catalog, which is the largest at my disposal..

I use iTunes fairly often, and did so long before I had an iPod. But I've also used other sites and have even downloaded mp3's from Amazon, which seems to have a growing collection of them.

And don't forget, "Wayward" by Sarahtonin, my favorite band is available on iTunes, Rhapsody, and a dozen or so other music downloading sites. :)
