
Subject: Sorry about that...

Posted by Kim on Tue, 12 Sep 2006 10:12:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Provider was doing some upgrades due to a recent change of ownership that turned out not to be as transparent as they'd hoped.

As Han Solo would say... "It's not my fault!" ;o)

Cheers,
Kim.

Subject: Re: Sorry about that...

Posted by [Deej \[1\]](#) on Tue, 12 Sep 2006 12:08:19 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Tell you're new provider that we have his name and we know where he lives.

Regards,

Luigi

"Kim" <hiddensounds@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:45068829$1@linux...

>

>

> Provider was doing some upgrades due to a recent change of ownership that > turned out not to be as transparent as they'd hoped.

>

> As Han Solo would say... "It's not my fault!" ;o)

>

> Cheers,

> Kim.

Subject: Re: Sorry about that...

Posted by Don Nafe on Tue, 12 Sep 2006 12:56:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

And I have...ah..."freinds" in their part of the world

D

"DJ" <animix_spam-this-ahole_@animas.net> wrote in message news:4506a3c8$1@linux...

> Tell you're new provider that we have his name and we know where he lives.

Subject: Re: Sorry about that...

Posted by steve the artguy on Wed, 13 Sep 2006 02:01:02 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Kim-

everytime I check in and there's nothing here I have this feeling like, well, maybe this time this is it.

And then when I check back later and the newsgroup's there, it's like turning on the hard drive you thought you'd fried and realize you'd overlooked something and it's working after all.

It's a nice feeling.

Thanks for keeping it going.

-steve

"Kim" <hidde@sounds@hotmail.com> wrote:

>

>

>Provider was doing some upgrades due to a recent change of ownership that >turned out not to be as transparent as they'd hoped.

>

>As Han Solo would say... "It's not my fault!" ;o)

>

>Cheers,

>Kim.

Subject: Re: Sorry about that...

Posted by rick on Wed, 13 Sep 2006 08:59:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

that was trixie solo for pete's sake...hans said "yes it is"

get your facts straight boy.....

On 12 Sep 2006 20:12:57 +1000, "Kim" <hidde@sounds@hotmail.com> wrote:

>

>

>Provider was doing some upgrades due to a recent change of ownership that >turned out not to be as transparent as they'd hoped.

>

>As Han Solo would say... "It's not my fault!" ;o)
>
>Cheers,
>Kim.

Subject: Re: Sorry about that...
Posted by Kim on Wed, 13 Sep 2006 09:39:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

>everytime I check in and there's nothing here I have this feeling like, well, >maybe this time this is it.

Hehe I wouldn't do that. I have no plans to ever stop hosting. Internet connections will only get cheaper and quicker, and boxes capable of running the software will do the same. I've no reason to stop hosting it, unless people simply no longer post here.

On the off chance that this changes I will give plenty of notice so that a migration path can be found. I aquired the license from Chuck to run this puppy (I funded an upgrade and a license for the backup server myself however) and as far as I'm concerned the software belongs to the group, not to me, as does the UPS which you all kindly bought. :o)

The worst thing that could happen is that the server I use could go bye bye, in which case we'd have to go to the backup box, which may mean missing a week's posts (depending how long since I booted the backup machine for an update - it's not on 24/7).

But unless my house burns down taking both boxes with it, you're not going to wake up one morning and find no more group here.

So relax. ;o) If it goes down, it will be back. If it's going to be down for more than 24 hours I'll advise Doug Wellington to put updates on status on parisfaqs.

We have a good thing here and it's going nowhere. :o) This is one of the reasons I stepped up to the plate so quickly when Chuck decided to stop hosting. I felt it couldn't be let go. I had that feeling you talk about above. I was like "Is this it?". I thought about it for about half an hour and thought "I can host it myself surely. I have a server sitting there..."

But I remember that fear at that time that this may be the end. I know what you're saying. If it's in my power though it won't be happening.

Cheers,
Kim.

>
>And then when I check back later and the newsgroup's there, it's like turning >on the hard drive you thought you'd fried and realize you'd overlooked something >and it's working after all.
>
>It's a nice feeling.
>
>Thanks for keeping it going.
>
>-steve
>
>"Kim" <hiddensounds@hotmail.com> wrote:
>>
>>
>>Provider was doing some upgrades due to a recent change of ownership that >>turned out not to be as transparent as they'd hoped.
>>
>>As Han Solo would say... "It's not my fault!" ;o)
>>
>>Cheers,
>>Kim.
>

Subject: Re: Sorry about that...
Posted by Kim on Wed, 13 Sep 2006 10:01:58 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

...and this is a post from the backup server. It functions just like the real one. Indeed if there's anybody who's in Melbourne who's interested in co-hosting we can hook this box up at their place and have two servers online 24/7 with different URL's which are linked to each other... if one goes down we can divert to the other.

Right now if the main server blew up we'd lose nothing and be back online within a few minutes.

Cheers,
Kim.

"Kim" <hiddensounds@hotmail.com> wrote:

>
>>everytime I check in and there's nothing here I have this feeling like,
well,
>>maybe this time this is it.
>
>Hehe I wouldn't do that. I have no plans to ever stop hosting. Internet connections >will only get cheaper and quicker, and boxes capable of running the software >will do the same. I've no reason to stop hosting it, unless people simply >no longer post here.

>
>On the off chance that this changes I will give plenty of notice so that >a migration path can be found. I aquired the license from Chuck to run this >puppy (I funded an upgrade and a license for the backup server myself however) >and as far as I'm concerned the software belongs to the group, not to me, >as does the UPS which you all kindly bought. :o)
>
>The worst thing that could happen is that the server I use could go bye bye,
>in which case we'd have to go to the backup box, which may mean missing a >week's posts (depending how long since I booted the backup machine for an >update - it's not on 24/7).
>
>But unless my house burns down taking both boxes with it, you're not going >to wake up one morning and find no more group here.
>
>So relax. ;o) If it goes down, it will be back. If it's going to be down >for more than 24 hours I'll advise Doug Wellington to put updates on status >on parisfaqs.
>
>We have a good thing here and it's going nowhere. :o) This is one of the >reasons I stepped up to the plate so quickly when Chuck decided to stop hosting.
>I felt it couldn't be let go. I had that feeling you talk about above. I >was like "Is this it?". I thought about it for about half an hour and thought
>"I can host it myself surely. I have a server sitting there..."
>
>But I remember that fear at that time that this may be the end. I know what >you're saying. If it's in my power though it won't be happening.
>
>Cheers,
>Kim.
>
>>
>>And then when I check back later and the newsgroup's there, it's like turning
>>on the hard drive you thought you'd fried and realize you'd overlooked
something
>>and it's working after all.
>>
>>It's a nice feeling.
>>
>>Thanks for keeping it going.
>>
>>-steve

>>
>>"Kim" <hiddensounds@hotmail.com> wrote:
>>>
>>>
>>>Provider was doing some upgrades due to a recent change of ownership that >>>turned out not to be as transparent as they'd hoped.
>>>
>>>As Han Solo would say... "It's not my fault!" ;o)
>>>
>>>Cheers,
>>>Kim.
>>
>

Subject: Re: Sorry about that...
Posted by chuck duffy on Wed, 13 Sep 2006 11:02:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi Steve,

I think we got started in December of 98, I can't believe this forum is coming up on 8 years! I still check in almost every day. My hard drive is definitely fried though :-)

Chuck

"steve the artguy" <artguy@somethingrother.net> wrote:

>
>Kim-
>
>everytime I check in and there's nothing here I have this feeling like,
well,
>maybe this time this is it.
>
>And then when I check back later and the newsgroup's there, it's like turning
>on the hard drive you thought you'd fried and realize you'd overlooked something >and it's working after all.
>
>It's a nice feeling.
>
>Thanks for keeping it going.
>
>-steve
>
>"Kim" <hiddensounds@hotmail.com> wrote:
>>

>>
>>Provider was doing some upgrades due to a recent change of ownership that >>turned out not to be as transparent as they'd hoped.
>>
>>As Han Solo would say... "It's not my fault!" ;o)
>>
>>Cheers,
>>Kim.
>

Subject: Re: Sorry about that...
Posted by steve the artguy on Thu, 14 Sep 2006 06:31:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

"chuck duffy" <c@c.com> wrote:

>
>Hi Steve,
>
>I think we got started in December of 98, I can't believe this forum is coming >up on 8 years! I still check in almost every day. My hard drive is definitely >fried though :-)
>
>Chuck
>

Chuck-

I could have the dates screwed up, but I have a post on my archive that's from 9-18-98...(remember Fowler's Paris Purist survey?) and I know you were here before I was!

By the way, are those kids in college yet?

-steve

>
>"steve the artguy" <artguy@somethingorother.net> wrote:
>>
>>Kim-
>>
>>everytime I check in and there's nothing here I have this feeling like,
>well,
>>maybe this time this is it.

>>
>>And then when I check back later and the newsgroup's there, it's like turning
>>on the hard drive you thought you'd fried and realize you'd overlooked
something
>>and it's working after all.
>>
>>It's a nice feeling.
>>
>>Thanks for keeping it going.
>>
>>-steve
>>
>>"Kim" <hiddensounds@hotmail.com> wrote:
>>>
>>>
>>>Provider was doing some upgrades due to a recent change of ownership that >>>turned out not to be as transparent as they'd hoped.
>>>
>>>As Han Solo would say... "It's not my fault!" ;o)
>>>
>>>Cheers,
>>>Kim.
>>
>

Subject: Re: Sorry about that...
Posted by Kim on Thu, 14 Sep 2006 09:27:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

"steve the artguy" <artguy@somethingorother.net> wrote:
>I could have the dates screwed up, but I have a post on my archive that's >from 9-18-98...

So that makes us 8 years old as of basically now...

....well hell...

Subject: Re: Sorry about that...
Posted by chuck duffy on Thu, 14 Sep 2006 13:11:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You know I think you are right :-)) It might have been December of 97 when a few of us started trading emails.

Elizabeth is in second grade, Gavan in kindergarten and sam is getting ready for "Tune In To Toddlers".

Chuck

"steve the artguy" <artguy@somethingrother.net> wrote:

>

>"chuck duffy" <c@c.com> wrote:

>>

>>Hi Steve,

>>

>>I think we got started in December of 98, I can't believe this forum is >coming >>up on 8 years! I still check in almost every day. My hard drive is definitely >>fried though :-)

>>

>>Chuck

>>

>

>Chuck-

>

>I could have the dates screwed up, but I have a post on my archive that's

>from 9-18-98...(remember Fowler's Paris Purist survey?) and I know you were >here before I was!

>

>By the way, are those kids in college yet?

>

>-steve

>

>

>

>

>>

>>"steve the artguy" <artguy@somethingrother.net> wrote:

>>>

>>>Kim-

>>>

>>>everytime I check in and there's nothing here I have this feeling like,

>>well,

>>>maybe this time this is it.

>>>

>>>And then when I check back later and the newsgroup's there, it's like turning

>>>on the hard drive you thought you'd fried and realize you'd overlooked

>something

>>>and it's working after all.

>>>

>>>It's a nice feeling.

>>>
>>>Thanks for keeping it going.
>>>
>>>-steve
>>>
>>>"Kim" <hiddensounds@hotmail.com> wrote:
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>Provider was doing some upgrades due to a recent change of ownership that >>>>turned out not to be as transparent as they'd hoped.
>>>>
>>>>As Han Solo would say... "It's not my fault!" ;o)
>>>>
>>>>Cheers,
>>>>Kim.
>>>
>>
>
