I was present at a few recording sessions with Willie & friends back in the early/mid 80's. I thought we smoked up all of the pot on earth then and there wasn't any left. I've still got a hangover from one of those sessions.....

As stupid as this was, the stupidity is likely a result of haviung smoked so much pot so maybe he can plead insanity. I hope he doesn't do time.....and he very possibly cound

Remember when Willie pulled off to the side of the road a couple of years back 'cause he had a bit too much to smoke and decided to sleep it off? The state trooper that busted him confiscated a half a joint from his ashtray, and asked "do you have any more of this Mr. Nelson?". Willie's reply was "Officer, that's all you'll need...". :)

Willie said in an interview that he had smoked pot every day if his life since 1956, with the exception of three months when he was preparing to test for his black belt. DJ--I was at his house a couple of times back in that ere also, and he always had a salad bowl full of buds on the table...

There was once a discussion about keeping that bowl in the refrigerator covered with cellophane to insure the freshenss of the produce. That was back around the time that Willie was in trouble with the IRS and for about 5 minutes, money was tight.

Always freeze any surpluses one might, um, come across in one's, um, travels.

That goes for meat, liquor, extra pasta sauces, produce, etc.

Amy and I were talking about it the other day actually. Either there or New Zealand. She needs to live in mountains though. She's gotta' have snow.

Having lived in just about every climate, I'm not too picky, though I do like the ocean. Something tells me I'd like Australia. Most of the Aussies I've met in my lifetime, I've become friends with, though I've never mated with any of the males.

Well, yes there is that, although we seem to let a whole lot of people that seem to have very little in experience, and then claim welfare, whilst making people that genuinely want to come here and contribute jump through hoops.

A bit like the US or Canada.

But Amy, I'm sorry, we really don't have many snow covered mountains, although you can hop on a plain and fly to NZ for A$500 and play in their lovely snowfields
