the sounds are still there! On this card it says: "Battery may be replaced while card is inserted in D-50 with power ON to prevent loss of card data."

  I'm concerned now. Darn it!

  I'll let you know.

looking to sell the following as one lot. everything is in excellent condition though there are scratches and nicks on the Mec. will split shipping costs, paypal add 3%.

(1) Blue Mec (fan is a tad noisier than on my other Mec so i'm including an extra fan in case you want to swap it out)
(2) 8 in cards (one blue, one black)
(2) 8 out cards (one blue, one black)
(2) EDS cards with connector cable
(1) Ensoniq SW-10 dual foot controller (new in box)
(1) SCSI cable (missing one end plate but still works fine)
(1) set of Chuck's EDS Plug-ins (pc and mac)
(1) set of original Paris user and reference manuals

$1850.00 takes it all.

thanks much.

jon
jc@nonstopsound.comWell, it appears now there is NO sound card. I replaced the battery yet
I still get the "Illegal Card" message. Maybe the contact needs to be cleaned.
So as it stands the D-550 includes three-ish memory cards. (I think you may be able to reformat the sound card and turn it into a memory card if I'm not mistaken).
