The fact is, they did not, and neither did we, yet to you it is all the same "brutality". It is not.

Can you agree? What would the ghouls and head-choppers do with our weapons? What would the palestinians do with them?

Why is there no peace? Be honest.

What is your plan to avoid this?

I don't care about liberals or conservatives for that matter. Is it possible that your way has been tried and failed? That when the ghouls kill innocent people that they must be stopped? Seems possible to me. I'd love to hear your plan of course.

heres an election campaign with a debate about how to deal with turkey, and also how to deal with potential islamists in our country, with our current minister of internal security and the guy who wants his post totally going berserk and extremely to the right. and if theres a classic debate in germany if ive ever seen one, its the debate about whether its good that its a principal no-no to openly criticize anything thats even remotely related to anything jewish. there are extremists that have a problem with that (they call it a sick case of non-judgmentalism...sounds familiar), i personally think its only adequate and should stay so for at least another 50 years.

so i dont really know what to reply to such accusations. its so completely unreal, i dont know where to start.
