I'll post more here as I progress down this path, but I was cleaning out my garage last night, and I found a brand new 8in board in its box, with both the board and the front panel still sealed in their bags, never opened.

Part of me thinks I should keep it that way as a collector's item, but then I was wondering if anybody would care...

Hey Doug -

Did you get that EDS-1000 board I sent down to you?

Ted

Eeek, I'm getting old, I thought I had let you know already...

I did indeed, thank you sir!
