Hi Kerry,

What I think are a few simple follow up questions regarding moving a project to reaper for mixing:

1) Pardon my ignorance, but how do you "render from zero"? Is there any quality loss from rendering?

2) If all the tracks started at zero, would I have to render from zero before importing them to reaper?

If they didn't all start from zero, is that the reason I would want to render from zero?

3) When I go into a paris project folder, there seem to be 2 types of files (other than PPJ, which I know reaper cannot use). Some that are paf and others that are OVW.

Do I need the OVW files imported into reaper as well and what are they for?

Thanks for your help. It is greatly appreciated.

John
