Cheers,

Dennis I have a complete Paris system for sale. I have downsized my studio and am using Cubase for what little I am doing now. I have (all blackface) a mec w/8in and adat cards. 2 EDS cards with cross connects a control 16, all cables and manuals. Also a transferable (I think) version 3 software. Everything worked when I yanked it out of my studio PC in February. Non smoking studio and well taken care of but used. Price is $500 for everything (won't part out) you pay shipping or pick it up in East Texas (tyler area). Email me with questions.

Thanks
Randy BrownDennis -

I have an 8-in and 8-out card for sale elsewhere in this forum. Drop me a note if you are interested. Paypal OK.

Matched pair of Neumann KM184's. Minty fresh. Black finish. I've owned these since 1998. They are wonderful.....they are also redundant here now and need a good home. They come in the original cherrywood Neumann logo'ed box with windscreens and the original clips. - $1100.00

2 x Claytorbuilt Mojave MA200 precursors. See previous post from a few days ago for description-$400.00 each

2 x AKG C460B/CK61 SDC's. come with cases and mic clips.-$300.00 each

Matched pair of Rode NT5's in flight case with all the factory goodies-$250.00

Studio Projects C-1 - comes in flight case with shock mount=$125.00 "mint condition"

Studio Projects C-1-no case or shock mount-$90.00 "mint condition"

Sony MU-R201 true stereo reverb/delay/FX $100.00

>Rode NTV-$450.00 - This is the cardioid LCD that some folks just love and is becoming a bit of a collectors item. Very "tubey/vibey" and 3D sounding with a wankin' big transformer. This is one of those really ballsy, "built like a brick shithouse" mics that Rode made many years ago, right after the came out with the original Classic. They could not sell at a price point ($1000.00) to compete with the Studio Projects mics. They cheaped out on the successor NTK. I have tried them side by side. The NTK is wimpy and thin sounding/colorless by comparison. There is nothing wimpy and thin sounding about this mic. Very big and "in your face" kinda sound. Reminds me a bit of
