Hey all,

My boss's kid spilled something into his Mac. I had put an XP partition on it for him to play games. That boots fine, the OS X partition does not. It looks to me like a boot loader issue, because I can select the OS X partition as the boot device but it chunks and then boots into XP anyway. I'd like to mount the OS X partition to back up data before sending it to Apple to get worked on. Can I mount that partition in XP? If so, how?
