Hi All,

Wanted to let you all know I'm still alive and also that I've returned to the project I started in 97 on PARIS. Moved to Cubase 5 from 3 recently and having lots of fun.

I'm loving my new Sure SM7B broadcast mic for vocals. Loving SIR2 for Verb, Voxengo Elephant for limiter and Waves Ren 4 band eq.

Took me a while to get a solid stable system running, but now tracking is super fast. Have it all going nicely on an XP desktop and a Win7 laptop.

Chuck

Woot! Nice to hear from you - and nice to hear the project lives. Send us some ruffs.

Let me know if you need any session bass tracks, gratis, of course.

here are some ruffs - these are by no means final mixes

All showing off the les, the ampeg and the SM7B. Please note that I like my guitar sounds vintage - it's on purpose

Vocal is real rough on this one, but the song sounds pretty good.

nice vibe, you're creating a solid piece of art

one mic on the cab? did you use the stock verbs?

Thanks Ted! Yes, one SM7B on the cab, maybe a 1.5 feet away, pointed at the center. The ampeg is the little 15 watt jet re-issue.

The guitar effect on the first two tracks is the spring verb and tremolo from the ampeg - nothing else.

The other verbs I use are SIR2 and sometimes a tempo delay on vocals.

Ah - as good as convo verbs are, I thought the amp verb was authentic.

I have been loving the whole world of Nebula. Have you checked it out at all? The EMT 140 convo and the comps are fantastic in my mind. I really don't seem to be using my UAD 2, or SSL Duende as much any more.

I haven't heard anything that adds dimension to guitar like a mic on a cab in a room. It just took me a long time to find the right combination (for me)

Thanks for the heads up on Nebula. I will check it out.

Hi Chuck,

Happy to hear from you. I can relate to going back to projects. I'm about ready to redo some stuff I did way back in '88 thru '96 just prior to Paris. It was all done on a used TEAC 4-track cassette tape machine.

I picked up the Korg M3 expanded and have to get thru the manuals first. Ugh! but it's an awesome workstation.

Nice stuff. Feel good stuff.
