Hi Folks -

A number of months ago, I checked with Aaron A, who produced the BT Paris Instructional DVD, regarding its copyright status, and was assured that the spirit and intent of all involved in its production would now allow for its free distribution to any Paris user who wanted a copy.

SO - I have a small CD/DVD dup/rep business going and would like to offer free copies (DVD-Rs) of the Brian Tankersley/Aaron Allen Paris Instructional DVD to anyone who would like one. All you have to do is send me your mailing address and I will copy it for you and mail it out. No charge. I'll even cover the postage for those in North America. I'm afraid S America, Europe, Aus etc are a bit out of my reach for free postage, but anyone who wants to send me a cheque to cover mailing from those locales will also get the disc copied gratis.

There is a time limit on this offer - the end of this calendar year. Orders have to be received by Dec 31, 2009.

Please notify me by email at: tedgerberatrogersdotcom with the subject heading BT/Paris DVD. I will reply with confirmation. (If you don't hear back from me within 48 hours, please try again, your original request may have gone to my junk file...)

Peace

Ted

There have been a bunch of requests for the DVD. Nice.

For those of you who may not know - the BT/Paris DVD is an instructional DVD produced by Aaron Allen with Brian Tankersley at his then Nashville studio. It contains chapters on work flow, patch bay set ups, compressors and plugins, bouncing, window views etc etc. Quite valuable if you're into using Paris.

Ted, I took the liberty of sticky-ing this post at the top of the forums. Thank you so much for this extremely generous gift to the community!

What about ripping the DVD and either putting segments on YouTube, or making the entire .iso available to people via a Torrent, or some other file sharing system?

Heya Philip - we have permission to do something like that, but Ted's offer is definitely better for those folks who don't permit their DAW PC to be physically connected to the internet.

I'm one of them. To me, computers are like that gal I dated in my youth. Love 'em; think the world of 'em; spend way too much time with 'em; wouldn't dream of trusting 'em.

I just received my copy (thanks Ted).

This DVD is awesome...I wish I had it years ago (why didn't I buy it back then?). Soooo many tips, and insight.

It's probably a good idea to have a pad of paper handy while watching it, to jot down ideas about how to improve your workflow.

Cheers

Kris

Ted

thanx so much for the DVD. Brian is a Riot! And informative as well. You are a saint for sending out this info, and paying postage, even to the States! We love you Ted!

Glad you got it!. I'm just back from vacation, sorry I didn't respond sooner.
No money is needed. The real thanks goes to Aaron Allen & Brian Tankersley.

Hi Folks -

So sorry for the delay in getting this batch of DVD s out. I was away almost all of July and Aug, and have been completely swamped since Labour Day (including out of country for a week). I have just run another batch of discs - there have been more requests than expected - and have sent them all out to you today.

Peace, and again, sorry for the delay

Ted Gerber

Hello all - now that the offer's expired, I'll de-sticky it, but I just thought I'd let you all know that Ted sent out a total of about fifty (!) of the BT vids on request, mostly to "first timers". I'd call that a pretty darned successful program. Many thanks once again for this great act of community-spiritedness, Ted!
