There will be an outage (yes, another one Dave ;o) in about half an hour, or at about 8AM GMT, while I switch processors in the server. It should be a simple as unplug and plug in the new one, so we should be back up in minutes...

....but just so everyone knows...

....hopefully I'll get it done before the U.S. coffee brigade wakes up. ;o)

Cheers,
Kim.

37.5% CPU speed increase...

....and more importantly, the fan on the new CPU is showing 5500RPM, not 1300RPM like the last one was, hence the processor might actually last and not cook itself. :o)

Now if Paypal will hurry up and transfer that UPS cash into my bank account, then we might have a fully stable system again. ;o)

Cheers,
Kim.

I read this "post wakeup, pre-coffee*" and I thought is said "planned outrage"

I was looking forward to some excitement.

really? I do "planned outrage" sessions all the time.

I usually follow it up with some yoga right after.. I find it helps take the edge off ;-)

Cheers,

TC

Hehe... "planned outrage".

Let's check today's diary and see what's on...

7:30 shower

7:45 have breakfast

8:00 become outraged

9:00 calm down again

There's something about outrage that doesn't quite suit being placed in your calender. ;o)

Cheers,

Kim.
